A Young Girl the Victim-The Arrest of a Woman Chargett With the Offine.

There came to the light of day yester. day a crime little short of morder in the first flegree, by which a woung German servant maid named Eva : Gruen, about twenty-six years pid, was brought to a most miserable death.

This girl, who is described as a very attractive young laily, has been employed for some time in and about the city doing house work. Her parents live in Louisville, and the only relative here in Louisville, and the only relative here is a step-sister. About three months since the was employed by Capbain W. A. Schoenke, of the Volksblatt, and, although it was known she kept-company, there was nothing to excite suspecton in any way.

Last Thesday afternoon a young man on the to the house, Capt. Schoenie himself answering the call. The man asked whether Eva Gruen lived there, and Capt. Schoenle, not knowing the girl's Capt. Schoenle, not knowing the girl's last name, went back to ask her. She last name, went back to ask her. She said her name was Gruen, and went in to see the caller. The two had a long conversation. The girl had appeared downhearted all day, and in the evening, after this interview, she told the Soncenies that she must go to see her parents in Louisville about some family matters. She would be back by Sunday, that is, yesterday morning.

She left on Thursday, and although it is not known certainly where she went or what she did, it is thought she went to her atep-sister in Corryvulle, and from there to a friend named airs. Adler, woo lives at No. 531 Mam street. Mrs. Ad-
